New Home of The Life & Casualty Insurance Company

The handsome new building now being completed for the Life & Casualty Insurance Company will be occupied by them within the next few weeks.

J. S. Reeves Notes

Arthur Waterman came in on Thursday and spent Friday looking for the best of cars he had brought in. He said that he thought he would have to keep a sharp eye on the boys for his youngest, aged three, had cut off a lot of his own hair, saying that he was a barber man.

C. O. Jones, Jr., got in Thursday after a two weeks' run, during which he had excellent business. Jones brought in some nice fall orders to add to the total of what he had sent in earlier in the trip.

Sidney Wiener plans to return to his out-of-town territory, after a short time in the city, and take care of the wants of his friends in that section. Sidney is giving the high year sales record a run for its money.

Bert Moser was unable to think up an excuse for going to Birmingham on business, and contented himself with going to the detail. Bert aspires to be for football what President Roosevelt is for the football short. Bert would make an excellent man for the job on account of his fine acquaintance among the young ladies, and this is more necessary in his favorite sport than it is in Baseball.

Peter Porch spent Saturday in the house and returned to his home at Dresden Sunday and began selling his bills again. Pete has been having a fine fall.

Mac McWilliams, the tall young man from Florence, Ala., was in the house Monday morning going over samples. Mac treated his yearly sales record ably during the year, and his own interests. Mac made past records in his parts look sick. He says that next year he is going to make the 1923 record look sick.

J. M. McClanahan made a short trip Thursday with nice results. It was Mac's first trip out since his fall force soon.

Harry B. Reed remained in his territory over the week-end, due to the press of business last week. Harry is still going mighty good. He will have had a fine year.

QUOTING SCRIPTURE

Bobbie's prayer just before Christmas: "God, have Santa Claus bring me an engine, a sled, a ball, a lot of games and a pony and cart and saddle, and remember, God, that the Lord loveth a cheerful giver."

"THE MAN FOR THE JOB" "If the President, Vice-President and all the members of the Cabinet should die, who would officiate?" asked the teacher. Robert tried hard, but in vain, to think of the next in succession until a happy thought struck him. "The undertaker!" he exclaimed.—Aston Leeds.

A WAY TO SAVE IT

"You're lookin' bad, Willie." "Aye, I've been in the hospital as the doctors have looked aw' ma spendin'."

"The doctors' tak' anything it's a besty ya didna have in it yer wife's name."

OUTLOOK MORE PROMISING

"The Bear"—"Can you support my daughter in the style to which she has been accustomed?"

"The Landlady"—"Go 'fere, sir."

"The Bear"—"Then take her. I was afraid you thought you could."

NEWS OF INTEREST TO RADIO BUGS

Geo. D. Hay, the "Solemn Ol' Judge," Joins the WSM Staff.

George Dewey Hay, the "Solemn Ol' Judge" of WLS, Chicago, Ill., is back South to occupy a post at the head of Station WSM, Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. Hay is one of the nation's outstanding announcers and radio station WSM, which has already made such a tremendous impression in radio circles in the short time it has been on the air, again commands the attention of the radio world with the announcement that the famous "Solemn Ol' Judge" is to join its staff.

Mr. Hay began his new duties at WSM on Monday, November 8, and in addition to the already capable staff should mean a great stride forward by the Nashville station in establishing its place permanently as leader in the broadcasting field.

George Hay first came into the limelight during his reign as head of Station WIC, Memphis, Tenn. One day he was invited to Chicago, and while there, he and his steambath while made such a favorable impression that he was signed up by Station WLS, the Sears-Roebuck station, where he continued to become prominent daily. In 1924 he won the Gold Cup award by the Radio Club in a contest for the country's most popular announcer; and in the 1925 contest he again stood near the top.

The "Solemn Ol' Judge" has made remarkable records in the radio world and on numerous occasions has been a great attraction at radio exhibitions, conventions and other important functions. He originated his own particular style of announcing, referring to radio as "radio-type ideas," and is capable of handling any type program from the most classic to the jazziest, and handle it to the keen enjoyment and satisfaction of artists, entertainers and audiences, an accomplishment accorded by few.

Mr. Hay brings to WSM the highest ideals—sound judgment, pleasant personality, and the invaluable experience of a pioneer in the radio game.

With the coming of Mr. Hay, the big Nashville stations plans an enlarged and more elaborate program of service than the limited staff heretofore has permitted, and great achievements are predicted for the National station.

WHAT CONSTITUTES A HOTEL

This question is frequently asked the division hotel inspection. Many small town and village hotels and places where accommodations are furnished transients do not wish to come under hotel supervision and requirements, claiming they do not operate a hotel, yet they take transients, charging hotel rates and furnish inferior service and accommodations.

"Not yet," was the reply. "They have no car."

"Yes, and they have no pom, no phonograph, no radio, and not even a grand piano. I can't imagine what they have got."

"Humbug!" remarked friend husband, sarcastically. "Perhaps they have a bank account."—The Forecast.

WIN A MAN TO YOUR CAUSE

If you would win a man to your cause, first convince him that you are his true friend. Therein is a drop of honey which catches his heart, which says what you will, is the greatest high road to his reason, and which, when once gained, you will find little trouble in convincing his judgment of the justness of your cause. If, indeed, that cause be really a just one. On the contrary, assume to dictate to his judgment, or to command his action, and he will retreat within himself, close all avenues of approach to his head and his heart, and though your cause be backed with Hercules' force and precision, you shall no more be able to pierce him than to penetrate the hard shell of a tortoise with a eye straw.—Albanan Lecture.

SELFISHNESS

I want the best and am determined to get it.

I break good friendships and destroy many happy homes.

I am always looking out for myself and my own interests.

I give no thought to the man at the other end of the bargain.

I have done much to keep the human race from attaining high ideals.

I am perfectly indifferent to others' success but invariably interested in my own.

I make multitudes of husbands and wives neglect each other, their children, and their homes.

It would seem that a man who is always trying to get the good things of the world concentrating upon them absorbing his whole life in obtaining them would enjoy them to the full but I do not.

No matter how much I have, there is always something within me calling for more, more, more! And the strange part of it is that after I get what looked so alluring it loses its glamour if it were not for this accusing protesting something in me that will not let me sleep, I could enjoy this sort of life immensely. I know I'll go on doing what I have been doing because it is my nature. I can't help it, though it doesn't bring me what I really need.—Selected.

Art Metal We Have always thought that Art Metal and steel files would stand the test. Now in the face of what they have stood we know it. It is truly nothing short of miraculous—the manner in which these steel files went through that fire and water. The above experience of the Southern Railway Company is but one of many instances of the protection given by Art Metal. In this case 800 Art Metal four drawer letter files brought their contents unharmed through a fire which completely gutted the building. And when you buy Art Metal steel office furniture for its permanence, its convenience, and its good looks, it is well to remember that you are also buying protection.
