

It has been whirl and twirl
And prance and dance
During this whole fun-packed
week end,
And you can bet
There are some sore feet
For these ladies and gentlemen.

The big spring event for the Deltas was Friday night. Before the dance senior members and their dates: Joanne McMath, Bob Seigenthaler, Pat Long, Don Dickerson, Joyce Carter, Vernon Davis, Gail Goss, Jim Sasser, Mary Lou Ryan, Stanley Fossick, Elior Stannard, Don Jones, Rachel Merritt, John Sloan, Martha Goodpasture, Clyde Gay, Gail Combs and Dewey Whittington enjoyed the dinner, given in the senior's honor, at Peggy Baker's house. Tom Morrison helped Peggy with the hospitality. After the feast the fellows rushed these girls home so that they would have plenty of time to get ready for their last Delta dance. Each and every girl at the dance looked lovely, especially the seniors who were all wearing ballerinas of snowy white. Jean Eubanks, Steven George, Ann Holladay, John Cartwright, Melinda Richardson, Ted Lee, Mary Beth Cranch, George Holle, Carolyn Fossick, Dick Abernathy, Peggy Lauderdales, Bill Woods, Emily Baker, Larry White, Jane in e Jackson, Don Duncan, Beverly Stratton and Tommy McAdams are only a few of the couples who waited away the hours in the ballroom of the Maxwell House. In the spotlight at presentation time were officers and their escorts: Kaywin Smith, David Johnson, Pattye Vreeland, John Malone, Betty Jean Lauderdale, Albert Goodpasture, Nyta Lynn, Burr Setfield, Pat Williams, Jody Bibb, Billy Elliott, Barbara Green and Moya Rutledge. One-thirty came all too soon bringing to a close another wonderful Delta dance. Then Gail Smith, John Egbert, Betty Payne, John Boatman, Kate Pritchett, Jerry Christman, Janice Setters, Jimmy French, Cynthia Myers, Vernon Pegrarn, Ann Hadley and Stewart Thau along with all the rest of the crowd headed for breakfast at either Gail Bullett's, Nancy Green's, Bitsy Boatman's or Rachel Merritt's.

Hillsboro Lads, Lassies Host
Gala Junior-Senior Prom

"Moonlight Serenade" will long hold beautiful memories for the seniors at Hillsboro for it was the theme of the Prom given for them last night by the junior class. Surrounded by glittering stars and clouds of angel hair, Glenda Brooks, Bobby Alford, Helen Landon, Judson Batts, Katie Sue Dickey, Richard Sweeney, Shirley Toon, Gene Woods, Martha Simons, George Holle, Charlotte Lashley, Joe Lentz, Arlene Hightower and Jerry Cornelius danced to the music of Charlie McGary's orchestra. Queen Ann Bennett reigned over the Prom attended by Jera Pinson, Nancy Bowers, Margaret Buford and Patricia Champion. The royal court was presented with bouquets of spring flowers and walked to the throne escorted by Jimmy Vaughan, Al Phillips, Steve Wood, Don Murray and David Moore. Applauding the procession as well as the marvelous time they were having were Shirley Sumpter, Bobby Parker, Joy Thornton, Peggy Adams, Billy Ingraham, Maren Churchill, Tommy Irwin, Marcia Nichol, Jimmy Batte, Nancy Headen and Dickie Linderman.

Last night was Prom time at Peabody, too! Seen entering the auditorium which was transformed into Neptune's Garden were Eileen Harap, Sam Dillard, Audrey Rivin, Dick Adler, Sandy Barnes, Billy Coles, Emily Loveman, Jim Wright, Gail Elam, Ben Rowan, Mary Gail Pilcher and Steve Rivin. The central ornament of the decorations was a coral reef flanked by a mermaid, some starfish and a treasure chest. Dancing under the sea to the musical notes of Neil Owen and his orchestra were Liz Werthan, John Owen, Emeline Riddle, Chris Stevenson, Nancy Walker, Mack Stokes, Lola Haun, Johnny Harwell, Muriel Freese, Jimmy Ward, Gailya Finley and Ward Clark. Preceding intermission the seniors received the spotlight as they passed through the archway of a coral castle. Leading the way were officers and their dates: Steven Tippens, Alice Allen, Billy Sue Medearis, John Hines, Betsy Boatman, Webber Parrish, Lynn Hill, Ken Lester, Scottie Suddoth and Jeanne Walker. After the prom Scottie entertained at a breakfast at his house.

DBS Gals Choose Leaders
At Meeting Last Sunday

The DBS elected officers last Sunday and the election returns were . . . president, Harriett Husband; vice president, Anne Morrissey; recording secretary, Mary Knox Berger; corresponding secretary, Betty Waggoner; treasurer, Betty Reynolds; sergeant-at-arms, Marcia Nichol; pan-hell Representative, Patricia Shelton; historian, Toni Wuest; sentinel, Mary Ann Bethshares; custodian, Jane Clark. Congratulations to all these girls who will be filling some mighty big shoes left by the out going officers.

Like Hillsboro and Peabody, last night was Junior-Senior Prom night at West, Jennie Olsen on the arm of Carl Kantor ruled over the occasion with attendants Mary Nell Holmes, Wanda Whitwell, Anita Gossett and Judy Griffin. Paying tribute to the royalty were Jane Hendricks, Billy Greer, Moore, Jimmy Lewis, Pat Forehand, Jerry Morrison, Sara Daniel, Fred Turner, Marilyn Eva, Kenneth Brake, Dot Ansley and Bill Mulligan. After a delightful evening of dancing Marian Albietz, Clarence Baird, Peggy Baker, Tom Morrison, Tommy Coke, Jenell Carey, Sarah Cooper and Wendell Harris were seen collecting a flower or a star to add to their scrapbook of memoirs.

Every year after the sorority Basketball Tournaments all the cheerleaders and members of the teams get together for a banquet or party of some sort. Last year, it was a picnic and it was such a success that these girls decided on a repeat for this year. So yesterday Liz Smith, Florence Stumb,

Ann Hawkins, Lynn Handerson, Barbara Hollabaugh, Donna Kennedy, Becky Ridley, Mary Ann McDowell, Jerry Sieberling, Connie Siegrist, Lissa Lutton and Nancy Crockett packed their lunch and went picnicing in Edwin Warner Park. When they arrived Tillie McNamara, Bev Bryan, Toots Tension, Marion Malone, Kay Kelley, Charleen Creagh, Leah King, Reba Beasley, Mag Teas and Betty Hatcher had beaten them there and were sitting on the grass chatting. After lunch, some went wading, some hiking, some swinging and some of the lazy ones just kept sitting on the ground talking.

The Thirteen club spring dance was last night in the Farmer school auditorium. Rushing around attending to the last minute dance time duties were officers of the club and their escorts: Jane Miller, Don Steinbaugh, Sally Smith, George McGugin, Carol Parker, Charles Baker, Jean Ann Miller, Tommy Murphree, Sandra Ramsey, Johnny Muse, Kathy Starr and David Duke. Intermission found Louise Bransford, Tommy Trabue, Helen Porter, Weni Caldwell, Winston Wakefield, Ralph Whaley, Julia Fort, Richard Appen, Betsy Erwin, Jackie Hooper, Argie Chalfant, John Clay, Louis Fort, Jackie Braden, Doris Templeton, Hayes Noel, Delphine Oman and Jeffrey Buntin sipping cooling refreshments and anticipating what was to come!

Square Dance Given At Mrs. Brown's Coffee Shop

Yawl come! This beckoning invitation issued by David Waller, Ben McDermott, Jimmy Hayes, Tony Edmonds, Jerry Vandervlaught, Willo Collins and Johnny Muse was only the beginning of Friday night's fun when these boys assisted by their dates Virginia Bass, Carolyn Boyd, Grace Mayo, Priscilla DeMoss, Judy Cartwright and Chloe Fort hosted a square dance at Mrs. Brown's tea room. Clad in the required gingham and blue jeans were Bill Blevins, Jerry Bradley, Carol Carter, Ann Boult, Went Caldwell, John Franklin, Kent Hamilton, Dick Johnson, Marilyn Kennedy, Hennie Benedict, Roger Peck, Dick Williams, Peggy Edge, Ann Morrison, Jack Long, Tom Fuqua, Gil Smith, Julie Harrison, Kay Baker and Betty West.

Shouting "surprise" Saturday were Mary Nell Holmes, Sara Daniel, Jennie Olson, Jackie Bender, Pat Forehand, Judy Payne, Faye Jewell, Jane Jennings, Frances Moore, Dot Jordan, Shirley Frazier and Harriett King when they gathered at Sara Lane Meeks house to help celebrate her seventeenth birthday. An early in the season swim party topped off the delish lunch and ended a perfect day for Sara Lane.

Betty Daniel played hostess at a punch party yesterday at home for all of her Burton friends and camp mates at Sequoyah. Mary Margaret Payne and Katie Wray assisted her in receiving such guests as Nancy Alexander, Carol Carter, Jane Deer, Ligda Fly,
